

THEATRE SAFETY GUIDE

Employee Screening

Mandatory survey screening will be required by staff prior to the start of their shift. Employees considered unfit to work will be instructed to immediately return home and contact authorities.

Employee Training

All employees will receive training on pandemic prevention practices in order to protect themselves and all other building users. This includes customer service while social distancing, proper sanitization techniques, guest interaction etiquette and emergency response protocol.

Sid Buckwold Theatre

Auditorium seating structure will be designed and sold with enforced social distancing requirements. Rows and sections will be restricted from public purchase, and larger groups will only be sold with box office assistance.

Personal Protective Equipment

Applicable TCU Place staff will be required to wear face masks. Guests are encouraged to bring their own.

Facility Cleanliness & Hand Sanitizer Stations

TCU Place has implemented an exhaustive cleaning protocol with increased cleaning and sanitizing schedules to ensure the safety of our facility. Touchless hand sanitizer stations will be placed throughout the facility.

Navigation/Signage

One-way aisles and entry/exit points will be clearly marked to help manage traffic. Visible directional signage will assist in crowd direction.

Restrooms

If possible, please use the washroom before visiting the facility. On-site restrooms use touchless fixtures to help minimize contact with physical surfaces.

Contactless Payments Preferred

Contactless point of sale transactions will be strongly encouraged throughout the building; cash will be discouraged. Please note that the Lobby ATM will not be available.
